SENT TO WORK HOUSE.

Chicken Thief Gets His Reward of 27 Days.

Thursday night a lot of chickens were stolen from Mrs. Jo. Reed, on Durrett avenue. The matter was reported to the police Friday morning and officer Nixon took a blood-hound to the scene of the theft. The hound soon struck a trail and followed to the home of Ed Willis, col. Willis was arrested and tried by Judge Fowler, who sentenced him to the work house for 27 days.

Successful Operation.

Mr. Horace Rutherford, of Elkton, who had an operation performed here on one of his feet, on account of an ingrowing toe nail, will be able to return home the latter part of this week. Dr. R. L. Woodward performed the operation.

Interest Increasing.

The meeting at Fairview, conducted by Revs. W. F. Cashman, of this place, and A. D. Leitchfield, of Pembroke, is increasing in interest each week and the series will continue throughout this week. Large crowds attend.

HEBRON MEETING.

Ten-day's Series to Commence November 22.

A protracted meeting will commence at Hebron church, near Church Hill, on Sunday, November 22. Rev. W. F. Cashman, the pastor, will be assisted in the series of meetings by Rev. Chenaunt, of Springfield, Tenn. There will be two services each day--at 10 a. m. and 7 p. m. The meeting will continue about ten days.

DIVORCE SUIT

First Action Filed After Adjournment of Court.

The first divorce suit filed here since adjournment of Circuit Court Friday was that of Jennie Seargent, filed with the Circuit Clerk yesterday. Plaintiff alleges drunkenness and cruel treatment. The parties are colored. The case will not be tried until the spring term of court.

Col. W. R. Howell went to Murray yesterday.

"NOT GUILTY"

Said the Jury in the James Grant Case.

Suit Against Courier-Journal Company Compromised and Stricken From the Docket.

The concluding argument in the case of James Grant, charged with the murder of Harrison Hamby in July last, was made by Commonwealth's attorney Howell Friday morning and the jury took the case just before noon. After deliberating until Saturday morning a verdict of not guilty was returned.

The proof showed that Hamby had uttered slanderous remarks about Grant's wife and daughter and the jury decided that the prisoner was justifiable in taking the life of Hamby, having acted in self defense.

The suit of Jim Will Anderson against the Louisville Courier Journal Company for $25,000 damages was compromised at $300 and the case stricken from the docket.

Court adjourned Saturday, after having been in session six weeks.

THE T. P. A.'S MEETING.

Enjoyable Program Arranged for Entertainment of Party.

The American Association of Traveling Passenger Agents meet in annual session at New Orleans today. A special train from Chicago passed through Hopkinsville, over the L. & N. road, Sunday, carrying members of the association to New Orleans.

At Birmingham special sleepers from Kansas City and Memphis were attached to the train and at Montgomery sleepers from New York and Boston were taken on.

At Pensacola yesterday the party was given a boat ride around Pensacola Harbor and visited Fort Barracas, the navy yard and other points of interest.

The return trip will be made over the Illinois Central via Memphis. From Memphis there will be a side trip to Hot Springs, Ark., over the Choctaw, Oklahoma and Gulf Road.

CASE DISMISSED.

Killing of Joe Benton, Asylum Inmate, Was Accidental.

The examining trial of John W. Long, who shot and killed Joseph P. Benton, an asylum inmate, while out hunting on the afternoon of the 31st ult., was held Friday morning before Judge W. T. Fowler and the case was dismissed. It was shown that the killing was purely accidental.

Benton and another asylum patient were in the woods near the asylum gathering hickory nuts. Benton had climbed a tree to shake the nuts down. Mr. Long, who is an old man and whose eyesight is impaired, saw the leaves shake, and thinking it was a squirrel, fired. Benton was struck in the breast and died in a few minutes.

CLARKSVILLE DEPOT

Tennessee Central Has Fixed the Location of the Structure.

Clarksville, Tenn., Nov. 6.—The Tennessee Central freight depot will be erected on the lot north of old tobacco exchange at the corner of Telegraph and College streets. The building will be 180x50 feet and will have entrance on either College or Telegraph street. It will be a frame structure, two stories high and will cost about $3,500. The freight offices will front on College street.

Eleven Additions to Church.

The meeting, which had been in progress at Rich for two weeks, closed Sunday night. There were eleven additions to the church. The pastor, Rev. W. B. Wright, of this city, was assisted by Rev. Fowler, of Madisonville.

NEW REPUBLIC

Of Panama is Formally Recognized by Uncle Sam.

Believed That Roosevelt Knew What Was Coming and Was Ready.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—The republic of Panama was formally recognized by the United States Government Friday and instructions sent to the United States minister to Colombia and Vice Consul at Panama to inform the Government respectively. In the meantime the action of the Government is being discussed by the entire world.

Favorable expressions have come from Paris and London. Senator Morgan gave out a statement in which he charges that the President has exceeded the bounds of the treaty of 1846 and will probably involve the country in a war with Colombia. Secretary of State Hay in a lengthy statement, defends the attitude of the President and says that he acted in accordance with all principles of justice and right and all established precedents. All is quiet at Panama and Colombia with no prospect of bloodshed.

CLAXTON-TAPP.

Virginia Woman Comes to Kentucky and Weds Farmer.

Mr. R. P. Claxton, a well-known farmer of near Casky, and Miss Sissie E. Tapp, of Alexandria, Va., were married at the home of the groom at 5 last Friday afternoon. The Rev. W. H. Vaughan, of Fairview, performed the ceremony. Mr. Joseph Claxton of this city, the groom's son by a former marriage, and the former's wife attended the wedding. The event was scheduled to take place the latter part of last August and Mr. Claxton went to Virginia with the Old North excursion party, but on arrival found the bride-to-be sick with fever, and the marriage had to be postponed. As soon as Miss Tapp fully recovered she came to Kentucky, arriving at Casky Friday morning.

A bottle of Prickly Ash Bitters kept in the house and used occasionally means good health to the whole household. R. C. Hardwick.

GRACEY HUNTING CLUB

Will Take an Outing on Muddy Fork.

The Gracey Hunting Club will not go on their regular hunt to Arkansas this fall. A number of members of the club will, however, take an outing on Muddy Fork, between Cadiz and the Cumberland river. They will leave Saturday and on arrival will go into camp, preparatory to beginning the hunt for small game Monday, the 16th inst., the day after the bird law expires. Game is said to be plentiful in that section and fishing good. Following is a list of those from Gracey who will compose the party: R. H. Baker, J. J. Reed, B. J. Wall, Gipp Watkins, Lawrence Baker, J. P. Watson and Dr. G. E. Medley. Several parties from Cadiz and Canton, and Judge Paul Turner, of Cerulean, will also go on the trip. They will be in camp about two weeks.

Mind Unbalanced.

Stanley Dempsey, a newspaper man of Ohio county, has been adjudged insane and committed to the Western Asylum for treatment.

FAMILY REUNITED

And Gone North to Make Future Home.

Mr. Otto Burkholder, who disappeared from Crofton several months ago has since been making his home in Pennsylvania. A complete reconciliation has been effected in the family. One day last week Mrs. Burkholder and little son went to Paducah, where, by appointment, they met Mr. Burkholder. The family left at once for Pennsylvania, where they will reside in future.

THE SEVENTH EVENT.

BY HELEN S. WRIGHT.

It was the last Saturday of the season at the hop yards. In the fields the pickers had but a scant six hours of work, for the kilns were overcrowded. In the balling rooms the long steel needles had been piled continuously. At short intervals, heavy burlapped oblongs were rolled from the scales and added to the stack for shipment.

Brady was only a picker. He had been "laid off" with the rest. In the meager shade beneath his tramp wagon he was stretched, face downward. Grasshoppers lighted fearlessly upon his back and sprang off again, their wings clicking metallically. The sorrel mare, tethered to a clump of willow, came the length of her rope, and whinnied for water. There was a stir in the wagon, and the sudden half cry of an awakening child. A frowny-headed little boy peered from under the canvas curtains, then he clambered down and stood ankle deep in the stubble.

"Daddy," he called. "Daddy! Me's hungry, daddy."

The man sat up and stared at the forlorn little figure.

"Amos is hungry, daddy?" the child continued, imperatively.

"Yes, yes," the man mechanically answered. He rose and stumbled over to a row of improvised shelves behind the sheet iron camp stove. The first can he opened was empty. The second held part of a loaf of bread. He cut a generous slice and greased it sparingly with butter from a jar. Then he lifted the little fellow, swung him into the wagon again and climbed in behind him. The child eyed the bread with round, disapproving eyes. "Mommie gives me her lasses," he said, slowly.

"And she gives my little milk."

He grabbed a lank gray kitten by its fore leg and pulled it toward him. "In the morning," he continued, thoughtfully, "mommie gives me mush—an' pancakes. I want my mommie, daddy."

The man made no answer. His eyes traveled from the band of fresh cotton crepe upon his hat to a faded pink sunbonnet that dangled among other garments, suspended by huge safety pins from the wagon top. The child's gaze followed his. "Will she be sorry 'cause she didn't take her bunnet?" he asked. Wondering at the silence, he looked questioningly up into his father's face. "Is yer cry in some more, daddy?" One gloomy little hand patted the rough cheek above him, leaving telltale traces in its moisture. "Yer mommie," he said. "Amos'll go an' find her!"

Brady pushed the boy suddenly from him, swung out of the wagon and busied himself with the scout preparations for the evening meal. As he worked, a childish treble floated out to him, crooning in a fashion of its own: "We're goin'—ter find—my mommie! We're goin'—ter find—my mommie!"

The larder was limited. Never had the purse been so thin since Tom Brady and Marcia, his wife, had become of the people known in the west as "wagon tramps." The inevitable "rainy day" had come. It had found them in the midst of a quiet season at the drier. There had been a bill illness and the child was "boarded out" for a week. Then came the funeral. Brady had borrowed a low, flat wagon, and the mare, Sinabar, had drawn Marcia for the last time. At the hop yards it was hard to weigh very much with a child to look after. Grief added lead to one's fingers. So the mush and the "mer-lasses" had given out; the pocketbook was depleted.

A square of blue, printed paper from the town press fluttered over the stubble. Brady, slicing potatoes, half unconsciously paused and picked it up.

"Day of Sports!" it read. "Last Sunday of the Season at the Hop Yards! Everyone Invited!"

The letters swam before him; through them he saw visions of the past. For a moment he seemed back in other "sport days" back with Marcia, the girl he courted with Marcia, the daughter of the miller, the mother, down the page to the "Amusements."

"1—Foot race, 100 yards, free for all; prize, $5.

"2—Young ladies' race, 50 yards; 16 years and over; prize, $2.50.

"3—Tug of war contest, purse, $10.

"4—Hop-sack race, free for all, to stake and return; prize, $2.50.

"5—Long jump contest, free for all; prize, $2.50.

"6—Wrestling match, 'Pickle' Smith vs. Lawton Perry; purse, $5.

"7—Half-mile running heat from commissary department to county road; open to all owners of horses; purse, $20."

Brady's gaze dwelt upon the last named stakes. He sighed involuntarily. The amount was equal to the picking of 2,000 pounds of hops!

"Daddy," the boy was standing beside him. His grave eyes searched the contents of the paper upon his father's lap. "Amos don't like bread and taters," he said, then added, decisively: "Me wants pie!"

A shadow rested on the man's face, his brows contracted. The child saw it. Grasping his father's shirt, he climbed upon his knee. His chubby arms clung coaxingly. "Amos is a good boy," he pleaded, "but he wants—some pie."

The man groaned; his mind reverted to the $20 stakes. Pie—money—the child's contentment. The three were synonymous. A sudden thought came to him. It sent the blood surging over his cheeks and forehead. He half rose to his feet, and sat down again. At last he resolutely stood up.

"I'll be hanged if I don't try!" he said.

He raised himself to his toes, and teetered up and down to test the suppleness of his muscles. Once, it was very long since, he had been the crack rider of a traveling show. Once, he had ridden bareback in the ring, had picked up bouquets from the sawdust, while the band brayed inharmoniously, and a thousand people on the benches whistled and cheered and applauded. Sinabar, too, had had her day, though it was years in the background. Tradition said she had been on the grand circuit; she had made a mile in 2:04 1/2 to wagon, with running mate! She was sprung-kneed and cockle-jointed now. Her teeth had been filed long ago to make mastication possible, and yet—

Brady walked over to her. There was a spring in his step that it had not known since the days of shadow at the drier. He caught her by the bale rope around her neck. "Whoo! Steady, old girl!" he said.

"Steady!" Sinabar, her forelegs bowed by force of disease, raised her drooping head. When had she not been steady!

"Easy there!" Brady went on. He ran his hand along her ungroomed sides to her flanks, cautiously felt her hocks, her pasterns, then he straightened himself and addressed her.

"We'll try it, partner," he said, "were as gunpowder!"

In the twilight that followed supper, Brady put the bridle to the harness upon Sinabar. One of the blinders was loose; the other was fastened on with cotton twine, but that did not matter. He vaulted to her back and looked cautiously up and down the stretch of stubble. The field was clear. From the acres of tents at a distance floated the high tones of a cornet. Voices reached him faintly, like the voices in a dream. The man leaned forward. He spoke in the language of the turf. Sinabar held up her head as if remembering. Brady, with effort, recalled the persuasive terms he used to know. He repeated them in a loud whisper. A sudden self-consciousness overwhelmed him. The mare started. Her strained attention gave him courage. He spoke louder. Sinabar laid back her ears. She stretched her nose forward. Her nostrils dilated. Brady raised his voice. Grief, time, place, were for the moment forgotten. A driving figure was silhouetted against the trailing crimson of the west. At the commissary office that night a new name was entered for the seventh event.

The sun blazed pitilessly on the stretch of roadless

the hop yards. Heat waves chased one another along the fence rails. The whitened stubble seemed to shift uncertainly in the light. A vendor was selling pink amourette, and a thin little man scolded his way in and out among the crowds of field hands, giving the time-honored cry: "Hokay-pokay, chewing candy, peanuts and popcorn!" Rosy girls leaned proudly upon the arms of their "steadies," or walked with them, hand-in-hand, their fingers dove-tailed together. The foot races had been run. The "tug of war" and the jumping contests were over. "Pickle" Smith had knocked out Lawton Perry in the second round, only the half-mile running heat remained to complete the amusements for the day. The people were growing impatient to have it over.

There were but four contestants entered. Three of them were already on the ground. Baldy, a white-faced bay, wore colors of blue cheese cloth floating from his bridle. John, a sturdy Mexican pony, carried streamers of orange, and Frisco, a horse of good points and evident breeding, had ribbons of red. Their riders waited anxiously. Suddenly a whirl of dust approached toward the sprinkled track. From it Brady emerged. His mare carried no colors. Her neck was stretched forward. Her open mouth showed the long yellow teeth. The loose blinder of her harness bridle flapped with every step. Her rider wore no decoration but the band of new cotton crepe upon his hat.

"Hi!" some one ironically shouted. "Six to one on the sorrel thoroughbred! She'll make a grand stand finish, she will!" There was a general laugh. Brady lined up without a word, and waited for the signal.

They were off! It was a capital start. Frisco was making the pace. The blue was running second. John was a length behind, and Sinabar—

"Where's your buckskin, donkey!" roared a man. "Speed her on! Speed her on! Speed her on!" The crowd applauded.

"A season's picking on the yellow jay," yelled another. "Why don't you make her go, Brady?" Brady did not hear them. He was leaning forward. Every muscle was tense; his voice, low, vibrant, was urging the mare to her utmost. Frisco was making time. John was holding his own, but Sinabar was creeping up. She had collared him! She had passed him! She was running neck to neck with the blue! The people no longer jeered. They leaned forward with straining eyes.

"By gosh," the man cried. "She's up with old Frisco! The mare's gone ahead!"

In the excitement, no one noticed the tiny figure trudging along the road. His frock was torn and dirty. He held a lank gray kitten close within his arms. "We're goin'—ter find—my mommie," he crooned, then stopped, as he heard the rushing hoofs behind him. He saw his father in the lead. "Daddy," he cried, "take me!"

Four foam-flecked horses were heading down upon him. Four sets of iron shoes were pounding on the track. The people saw it all. Men shut their teeth hard. Women caught up their own babies and hid their faces in the chubby breasts.

And Brady—he tugged at the bit, but the mare was keen for the goal. The old spirit was firing her veins. It was his child and—hers. Marcia's! There was but one chance. In the days on the ring—

"Amos," he cried, "stand—still!" White-faced, he swept down upon him, threw one arm about the mare's neck—leaped low. The air pulsed with the heat of 16 iron shoes.

From the flying mud and gravel of the watered road, Frisco dashed to the winning post. Sinabar carried a child on her back with a kitten clasped in his arms.

There was a box placed by the pickers in the office of the commissary department the next day. It had a slit at the top. The men, when they cashed up their coupons, sidled along to it as though ashamed of their generosity. The inscription above it read:

"For Brady's motherless kid, who rode in the seventh event."

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS.

"The Henderson Route"—Always First.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 29, 1903.—The traveling public will be pleased to learn of the latest innovation in the way of comfort, travel for its patrons which is now being offered by that most popular railroad, The "Henderson Route," which have just been received from the shops and are a revelation in the car builder's art.

The cars are strictly up to date, first-class "palaces of travel" on wheels, and which are promised by the Henderson Route.

Among other advantages offered, these highly finished cars, a few of the most important points only are mentioned:

They are solidly vestibuled and are furnished with sixty-four reclining chairs, which are upholstered in beautiful green plush, in addition to smoking and toilet rooms being finished throughout in leather. They are also fitted up with triple trucks, which feature will do away with the jerk, jar and strain incident to travel in the ordinary railway coach, and insure a smooth and comfortable ride. This should prove more than a popular feature in train service to the traveling public, and we can only suggest that in traveling you "get the Henderson Route" habit.

A Novelty in Railroad Education.

The novel project of running a palatial special train from Chicago to New Orleans and return, a distance of nearly 2,000 miles, for the sole benefit of competitors was successfully carried out by the officials of the Illinois Central Railroad last week. Nearly 100 general passenger agents and members of their families were the guests of the Illinois Central during the trip, everything, including musical entertainments in the observation car, being provided by the company. Had anyone undertaken to purchase the service and entertainment provided the cost could not have been far from $10,000. The train was, so to speak, an edition de luxe, the Pullman Company certifying that the new cars furnished were the finest ever manufactured by them, and the engineers and train crew were the most expert in the employ of the railroad company.

The novelty of the affair consists largely in the fact that a few years ago railroad companies strove to keep from competitors accurate knowledge of conditions along their lines of railroad. Excluding the complimentary features, the main purpose of the Illinois Central expedition was to educate competing lines regarding the unexcelled transportation facilities possessed by that company, and the possibilities which lie in the development of the South. Although progressive men, the general passenger agents who were on the trip were amazed to learn that the Illinois Central now practically has a double track system all the way between Chicago and New Orleans and a long ballasted roadbed with few grades and curves, which is capable of accommodating an enormous volume of traffic. They were also surprised at the phenomenal commercial and industrial awakening which the South is experiencing, and they will spread the news regarding both facts for months to come.

In doing this they will be advertising the South most effectively and promoting travel there from every quarter of the country. Naturally the Illinois Central will get the benefit of this, for, in short, it has recruited a force of 100 live advertising agents from among the ranks of its active competitors. Under railroad methods in vogue prior to the era of "community of interests" such an undertaking would have been hailed as suicidal.—Editorial, Chicago Record-Herald.

The Influence of The Youth's Companion.

The gospel of good cheer brightens every page of The Youth's Companion. Although the paper is nearly seventy-seven years of age it does not look back on the past as a better period than the present.

The Companion believes that the time most full of promise is the time we are living in, and every weekly issue reflects this spirit of looking for and not back.

To more than half a million American families it carries every week its message of cheer. Its stories picture the true characteristics of the young men and women of America. Its articles bring nearly three million readers in touch with the best thought of the most famous of living men and women.

Annual Announcement Number, fully describing the principal features of The Companion's new volume for 1904 will be sent to any address free.

The new subscriber for 1904 will receive all the issues of The Companion for the remaining weeks of 1903 free from the time of subscription, also The Companion calendar for 1904, lithographed in twelve colors and gold.

Declares for Independence.

A ministerial organ in Canada declared its independence from Great Britain, or at least a mere recognition of King Edward's sovereignty.

A child of Mrs. Geo. T. Benson, when getting his usual Saturday night bath, stepped back against a hot stove which burned him severely. The child was in great agony and his mother could do nothing to pacify him. Remembering that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house, she thought she would try it. In less than half an hour after applying it the child was quiet and in less than two weeks was well. Mrs. Benson is a well known resident of Kellar, Minn., and especially valuable for burns, cuts, bruises and sprains. For sale by Cook & Higgins, druggists.

Released from Prison.

Martin Gill, sentenced to Sing Sing prison twenty-nine years ago for murder, was released through the efforts of his brother, Jerome, of Manhattan college.

If you have a bad cold you need a good reliable medicine like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to loosen and relieve the chest, soothe the throat and lungs. MISSING BALLOTS FOUND.

They Increase the Majority of Democratic Candidate for Mayor.

Bowling Green, Ky., Nov. 4.—Thirteen Democratic ballots stolen from the Police Court precinct in this city were recovered this afternoon and are now in the safe of Judge George R. Gorin, the Democratic county chairman. At the count of the vote last night on the Police Court precinct thirteen ballots were missing when the ballots and stub books were compared. All day the Republicans have been claiming the Democrats made way with them, and this was to be part of the basis of a contest in the race for Mayor.

This afternoon a Republican found the thirteen ballots in the lavatory on the courthouse grounds. He showed them to partisan friends and finally turned them over to the Democratic authorities. The ballots are all Democratic and increase the majority of George T. Wilson, the Democratic candidate for Mayor from twenty-two to thirty-five. Notwithstanding this majority, Col E. L. Mottley will contest the election.

Endorsements such as this from all over the world are the firm foundation on which Doan's Kidney Pills have built a reputation.

M. V. Davis, of Eades & Davis, dealers in coal on East Seventh street, at the L. & N. R. R. station who lives at 508 North Main street, says: "I advise the use of Doan's Kidney Pills in all cases similar to that of my son who for some time complained of backache and was troubled with a kidney weakness which was very annoying at night. We tried many different remedies and he was treated by the family physician, but nothing seemed to do him much good. I learned about Doan's Kidney Pills from a box at Thomas & Trahern's drug store. He used them and there was a noticeable improvement in a short time. After he had taken all of the contents which had proven such an annoyance was entirely relieved. We consider Doan's Kidney Pills certainly worthy of strong endorsement."

SEVERAL KILLINGS.

Occurred In Kentucky On Election Day.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 3.—In a pistol duel in the voting place of the Thirty-ninth precinct of the eleventh ward, at Thirteenth and Green streets, Thomas Kiley, the Democrat judge was this afternoon shot through the heart and probably fatally wounded by Jacob Krieger, the Republican sheriff.

William Stevens, the Republican judge, was crossing the street to enter the polls, when Kiley opened fire on him. Jacob Krieger, the Republican sheriff, was also inside the voting place, says he believed that Stevens' life was about to be taken and he opened fire on Kiley. Krieger was subsequently released on $500 bail.

The Best Remedy for Croup.

This is the season when the woman who knows the best remedies for croup is in demand in every neighborhood. One of the most terrible things in the world is to be awakened in the middle of the night by a whoop from one of the children. The croup remedies are almost as sure to fail, in case of croup, as a revolver is sure to be lost in the hands of a burglar. There used to be an old fashioned remedy for croup, known as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, but some modern mothers say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better, and does not cost so much. It causes the patient to "throw up the phlegm" quicker, and gives relief in a shorter time. Give this remedy as soon as the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Cook & Higgins, druggists.

Charles A. Nelson, of Hardin county, a former member of the Legislature, has been elected deputy warden of the Frankfort penitentiaries to fill a vacancy.

The Hon. Henry D. Newcomb, of Louisville, candidate for Speaker, had a very close finish in his finish with Frank Hogan. His majority is less than 100 and for awhile it looked like he had been eliminated from the race for speaker by the voters of his district.

Harry G. Tandy is a candidate for the State Senate in the Paducah district, to succeed Senator Ferguson, elected Railroad Commissioner. There will be other candidates, but Tandy is expected to be the Lou Dillon of the race. Mr. Tandy has an option on the place of assistant superintendent of schools under Prof. Fuqua.

Judge B. W. Bradburn, of Bowling Green, was defeated by John M. Galway, for Circuit Judge by 269 majority. The Republicans made a fierce fight and spent a barrel of money in that district, which was close to begin with. Under all the circumstances Judge Bradburn made a very strong fight against heavy odds.

Columbia is sending 7,000 soldiers to Colon by the overland route, to resist the secession of Panama state. The dispatch states that Columbia will not permit the United States to take part of her territory under the pretext of creating a new republic. In the meanwhile it would be interesting to know how Columbia is going to prevent it.

Right or wrong, we are bound to admire the trick President Roosevelt has turned on the Colombians, who were trying to hold up Uncle Sam. The secession of Panama on Wednesday and the recognition of the separation on Friday, shows that even a Northern President can look with favor on secession when the wrong one is right. Now let Panama be annexed and we will have the canal question settled beyond dispute. The American canal should be an American soil.

RASTUS ON THE RUN.

Next Legislature Expected To Fix The Negro's Clock.

The coming session of the Legislature will see the introduction of a bill to eliminate the vote of the ignorant and vicious negro. What method of accomplishing this end it will advocate will of course, not be known until it comes before the General Assembly for discussion and action. In the meantime however, it will be well for the men with whom the fate of the measure will rest to study the question fairly, thoroughly and without prejudice.

At the present time adoption of a ballot free from all the party devices and containing the names of all candidates printed in such fashion as to give to no man not thoroughly acquainted with the issue no clue by which to vote appears the fairest and most feasible manner of accomplishing the end sought. Such a ballot in modified form now exists in Massachusetts, Tennessee, Missouri and other States, so that its adoption by Kentucky would not be in the nature of an experiment.

It can be adopted without change of the constitution and from its nature, will make necessary intelligence and the qualification of education on the part of the voter, if it is to be exercised successfully. The time has passed for Kentucky to be governed by a roster or a log cabin. What the State needs is an administration of its affairs by men chosen solely on the ground of their personal fitness and the principles they represent. The coming Legislature will be entrusted with its duty. The responsibility for its performance should not be entered upon lightly, nor discharged without earnest consideration and a determined purpose to rise above party and sectional interests. The Democrats are the only party that can do this.

HOW THE NATIVES TELL IT.

Guides to English Points of Interest Are a Curious Lot.

Much has been said and written about the official guides to show places, but the usual drivers of vehicles who day by day for years pass places of great interest, and who constitute themselves informal guides, are often far more full of unconscious humor, if only for the off-hand way in which they contribute information, says London Tit-Bits.

Only last summer, whilst passing in Yorkshire the scene of the battle of Marston Moor, the driver of the vehicle in which the present writer was suddenly jerked his whip in the direction of some mounds that lined the roadside, and in a perfunctory way said: "This 'ere is where 'r' Wahls of 'r' Rooses, or summat like that, was foughten" (pronounced "forten"). "T' place where Allover Crumme give t' Duke of York what for, as Ah've been telled, is abah't 'ere. Ah've often heerd tell frae my gran'father abah't hab he seed t' 'dread' tins ligg'ing abah't 'r' regular hecups."

Once, at Knaresborough, a very old driver, who pointed out to a party a certain spot known as "Dragon's Hole," was asked in a grave way: "I suppose there used to be lots of dragons about here?" In the cool, non-committal way of the Yorkshireman the old man replied: "I never seed no dragons, nelson, but if this is t' 'dragon's hoyle' (hole) 'there must ha' been dragons in t' o'w' days. Ah've heerd tell o' such things, but hapen you're better able to tell me abah't 'em than I am to tell ye."

In another case, on the field of the battle of Tewkesbury, a driver who was asked: "I suppose there are lots of bones up about here?" replied: "I take no heed o' bones—it's all I can do to manage this 'oss—but I'm told as more bones and old iron than would furnish a rag and bone shop has been found."

Affects Their Patients.

Army doctors look out for good news even more eagerly than the general in command of the forces, for they know that it makes the difference between life and death to many of their patients. Nothing hinders the recovery of the wounded so much as depression of spirits and anxiety. And when they hear that things are going badly at the front, many of them who are on the turning point grow worse and die. On the other hand the news of a great victory will sometimes pull a man out of the jaws of death.

Consumption

Salt pork is a famous old-fashioned remedy for consumption. "Eat plenty of pork," was the advice to the consumptive 50 and 100 years ago.

Salt pork is good if a man can stomach it. The idea behind it is that fat is the food the consumptive needs most.

Scott's Emulsion is the modern method of feeding fat to the consumptive. Pork is too rough for sensitive stomachs. Scott's Emulsion is the most refined of fats, especially prepared for easy digestion.

Feeding him fat in this way, which is often the only way, is half the battle, but Scott's Emulsion does more than that. There is something about the combination of cod liver oil and hypophosphites in Scott's Emulsion that puts new life into the weak parts and has a special action on the diseased lungs.

A sample will be sent free upon request. Be sure that this picture in the front of a label is on the wrapper of each bottle of Emulsion you buy.

A BIG UNDERTAKING

It Is Proposed to Raise the Levels of the Great Lakes.

Commerce Through Lakes Erie and St. Clair Would Be Greatly Benefited—A Big Dam Year Has to Be Built.

A matter which is receiving the attention of President Roosevelt at this time is the selection of the three American members of the international commission to consider plans for the regulation of the levels of the great lakes. Canada is to have a representation on the commission of three members, and there is no reason to expect opposition to the project from them, inasmuch as Canada has nothing to lose and everything to gain. It is proposed to construct work of construction and maintenance entirely at the expense of the United States.

The proposition to raise and control the level of the water of the great lakes has been under consideration for years and has received the active consideration and approval of the governing board of engineers of deep waterways, and of the United States engineers. Briefly stated the plans provide for a regulating dam on the Niagara river not far from Buffalo. The regulating feature will be accomplished by making a fixed weir with movable sluices, so that the level of Lake Erie may be controlled at all times, and according to estimates made after careful study of the plan it appears feasible to maintain the level of Lake Erie about three feet higher than the usual stage of water during the low water period in the latter season of navigation.

A corresponding increase in the low water depth in Lake St. Clair of two feet would be obtained and Lakes Huron and Michigan would gain in depth. Lake Superior is beyond the range of effect. One of the special advantages to be gained by thus raising the lake levels is in connection with the work on the Detroit river. At present there is less than 18 feet depth over the shoals at low water and DREDGING A LAKE ERIE HARBOR.

The necessity of deepening works has been demonstrated if the increasing commerce is to be handled.

The cost of construction of the dam on the Niagara river and the maintenance of the works to operate the weir would be paid for many times over in the money which would be saved in harbor improvements now made necessary by the low water stages. The aggregate cost of improving Lake Erie harbors has averaged $1,000,000 for each foot of permanent depth secured, and as the proposed regulating works would give an increased depth of three feet it would represent a value of $3,000,000. This sum taken in comparison with the estimated cost of the proposed dam of $800,000 is a strong and convincing argument in favor of the project. Here is a clear saving of over two million dollars on Lake Erie alone and the saving on the Detroit river and on Lakes St. Clair, Huron and Michigan would swell the sum to far greater proportions.

Of course any construction works affecting the level of the great lakes necessarily becomes a matter of international agreement, hence the appointment of the international commission. Just the effect which the elevation of the lake levels would have on streams tributary to the lakes, and just how it would operate upon vested rights along the shore lines of the waters affected are matters which demand the thorough and discriminating examination by the commission.

It is interesting to note in connection with this problem of lake levels that measurements of the flow of Niagara river, made both by the U. S. engineers and those of the United States show that there has been a continuous decrease in the discharge of water through the Niagara river into the St. Lawrence. The measurements made in 1868 gave a discharge of 265,000 cubic feet per second; those made in 1880-81 gave but 230,000 cubic feet per second. The present measurements show but 220,000 cubic feet and comparisons reveal a similar decrease in the discharge of the St. Clair and St. Lawrence rivers.

This decrease in flow is undoubtedly the result of the gradual tilting of the land from the north towards the south-west, discovered by scientific men to be steadily and slowly going on. In 3,000 years at the present rate of tilting the Niagara river will be entirely dried up and the waters of the great lakes will be discharged through an old channel near Chicago made centuries ago by the erosion of a glacial lake. The bed of this channel is now eight feet above the mean level of Lake Michigan and five feet above highest level.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the liver is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is now realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. None of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

THEATRICAL VENTURE

That Promises to be an Unheralded Success.

Rehearsals are being held nightly for the performance of "Charley's Aunt," a very bright, attractive farce-comedy, which will be presented Thursday evening, November 12th, at Holland's Opera House, for the benefit of the Kenton Club. This is the second theatrical venture of this popular organization and promises to be an unheralded success. The proceeds will be devoted to fitting up the gymnasium which are now being remodeled.

The play is a charming comedy of English life, and the scenery and costumes are modern and attractive. A wealthy Brazilian widow describes her student nephew that she will visit him on "Memorial Day" at the famous English seat of learning, Oxford, and the nephew and his chum invite their sweethearts to a luncheon to meet her, but on the eventful day the aunt, failing to put in her appearance, is presented by a college youth, who is welcome to the unusual experience of lovers and proposals which give rise to many amusing and amusing incidents.

The parts are taken by the best local talent, admirably cast, and the production bids fair to equal, if not surpass all previous attempts of Hopkinsville amateurs. The cast is as follows:

Jack Cheney, (students) Mr. Ben S. Winfree (Charles Graham), Mr. Lawrence Plack (Lord Praeger), Rotherly, M. Geo. C. Howell (Mr. Francis Cheney), Jack's father, Mr. Wallace Kelly (Mr. Charles Head), Stegman Spettigue, Mr. Charles Head (Miss Kitty Ventum), Miss Joan McKee (Miss Amy Spettigue), Miss Mary Starling (Miss Elsie Dechoy), Miss Annie McPherson (Miss Lucia D'Arville), Miss Mary Starling.

Tickets go on sale to-day at the Postal Telegraph office.

OFFICIAL FIGURES

Give Judge Cook a Comfortable Majority.

The figures in the judicial race were not changed much by the official count. They are as follows:

Cook, Breathitt
Calloway, 2253 1003
Christain, 3061 4334
Lyon, 899 796
Frigg, 1360 1313

Majority 7573 7446

Of the Christain county votes 56 for Breathitt and 12 for Cook were held to be good from the uncounted ballots at Beverly, Pembroke and other places. They had no certificates attached to them and the matter was left open until the election officers could be required to attach the necessary statements, showing why the ballots were not counted. Judge Breathitt stated yesterday that he is not satisfied with the count and will demand a re-count of all the ballots and probably file a contest within 30 days if he cannot get a recount without it.

A Sure Thing.

It is said that nothing is sure except death and taxes, but that is not altogether true. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption is sure cure for all lung and throat troubles. Thousands can testify to that. Mrs. C. B. VanMetre, of Shepherdstown, W. Va., says: "I had a severe case of Bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely." It's infallible for Croup, Whooping Cough, Grip, Pneumonia and Consumption. Try it. It's guaranteed by R. C. Hardwick, druggist. Trial bottles free. Regular sizes 50c and $1.00.

GOES TO SEATTLE.

Dr. John O. Rust Decided to Go to Seattle.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—After the morning service to-day Dr. J. O. Rust, one of the best-known Baptist ministers in the South, tendered his resignation as pastor of the Edgefield Baptist church. He will accept a call to the First Baptist church in Seattle. He was first called to the Seattle church last June, but declined. He will leave within the next two weeks for his new charge. Dr. Rust has filled the Edgefield pulpit for eight years, having come here from Hopkinsville.

A Startling Test.

To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of North Moberg, Pa., made a startling test, resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes: "A patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles so I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first, and has not had an attack in 14 months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for Dyspepsia, indigestion, Constipation and Kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50c at R. C. Hardwick's.

NEGRO OUTLAWRY

Thursday Night's Lynching at Pass Christian an Outcome of It

New Orleans, Nov. 6.—The lynching last night at Pass Christian was the culmination of negro outlawry in that section and may be followed by a general movement along the Mississippi coast to get rid of the bad element. The lady assaulted was Mrs. Peter Labouise, formerly Mrs. Osgood Peel, a society belle of New York, having been Miss Isabel Townsend before her first marriage. She is in a serious condition.

An English Author Wrote:

No shade, no shine, no fruit, no flowers, no leaves,—November! Many Americans would add no freedom from catarrh, which is so aggravated during this month that it becomes constantly troublesome. There is abundant proof that catarrh is a constitutional disease. It is related to scrofula and consumption, being one of the wasting diseases. Hood's Sarsaparilla has shown that what is capable of eradicating scrofula, completely cures catarrh and taken in time prevents consumption. We cannot see how any sufferer can put off taking this medicine, in view of the widely published record of its radical and permanent cures. It is undoubtedly America's Greatest Medicine for America's Greatest Disease—Catarrh.

Another Football Victim.

THE ATHENAEUM

Holds a Most Enjoyable Session Thursday Night.

The meeting of the Athenaeum Thursday night proved to be one of the best that has been held. There were 21 of the 30 members present. Messrs. W. T. Tandy and J. B. Taylor resigned and Judge Joe McCarroll and Mr. J. G. Cooper were elected to membership from the waiting list. Prof. A. C. Kuykendall's paper on his European travels was very interesting and brought out a general discussion. The next program includes Mr. Ira L. Smith, Dr. W. V. Ray and Dr. Manning Brown.

DAVE SMITH

Catches Two Men Charged With Robbing Him.

Jim Jones and Jim Turner, colored, were arrested and lodged in jail here Sunday night charged with breaking into David Smith's store at Fruit Hill. They were tracked by bloodhounds taken from here, and found with $100 worth of Smith's goods in their possession. They confessed and claim there are other accomplices. The quick work was due to the efforts of Officers Nixon and Booth Morris.

Watch the Children.

Children need a parent's closest attention in matters of health, and particularly in carefully observing that the functions of digestion are working perfectly. From the little baby to the colic boy or the petted girl, the occasional use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will prove the greatest kind of health builder. It is many of us remember during our childhood the time when the bottle of Castor Oil was taken from the shelf and father or mother coaxed us to take it. Children like Syrup Pepsin; take it as they would honey. All druggists sell it.

KENTUCKY TRAGEDY.

Magistrate Upton Killed Tom Stewart in Warren County.

Bowling Green, Ky., Nov. 6.—Magistrate Elijah Upton shot and killed Tom Stewart, a well-to-do farmer at Richardsville, this county this morning. The killing was the result of the issuing of a warrant by Squire Upton for Stewart's arrest upon the application of the latter's son, following a quarrel over politics. Stewart was formerly a Democrat, but recently has been voting the Republican ticket. On election day young Stewart announced his intention of voting for the Democratic nominees and his father entered a decided protest. This angered the young man and hot words passed between father and son. Finally they came to blows, young Stewart declaring he would have his father arrested and swore out a warrant before Magistrate Upton. The lad's father heard of the son's intention and sent word to the Magistrate that if he issued a warrant he would kill him on sight. This morning Stewart and Esquire Upton met and after some words the latter shot and killed the former.

$50 Won $201.75.

Every Week a Winner in October—

Your Money Works While You Sleep.

Our famous corps of track sharps are up at break of day, "clocking" the horses in their morning trots and while you sleep they spot the winners that bring you steady income. Our method puts you on a level with the most successful pluggers of the American turf. We operate for you 25 per cent. of weekly earnings. We win only when you win.—Results obtained equal to best dreams of avarice.

Again we scored heavily for all of our clients last month. Again we landed the money and landed it in chunks. Three years of organization, with the best facilities that money and brains can procure to make our service of picking and backing winners at the horse races the most accurate and profitable in the land, has had its natural sequence, and each week our showing demonstrates a good profit for every client.

Now $50 Netted $201.75 in Less Than a Month.

Here is a complete statement, showing the result of a $10 play on each horse given in our "Discretionary Series" during October. (Note: A capital to begin with of $50 is required by us, as a matter of conservatism, to make a $10 play on each horse that is considered by us a good betting proposition.)

The above showing is no improvement over that of September, and is not remarkable, since we have exceeded it time and again during the past three years of our uninterrupted operations. Good as our record may be, we will make it "look sick" by comparison with the showing we are going to make at the meeting of 100 days which meets at New Orleans this month.

We Pick the Winners.

The system we employ to locate winners is identical with that used by "Pittsburg Post," John A. Drake, John Gates, W. Langdon, Joe Yeager, and other famous pluggers who win hundreds of thousands on the turf every year, and it proves just as successful.

We gather our information of prospective winners, through a force of expert horsemen, who hold a watch on the horses in their early-morning trials, and in that way learn when they are ready to win.

The money that is played into the game by persistent losers, such as the large mass of uninformed players are bound to be, goes into the pockets of the big operators, of which the Maxim & Gay Co., representing a large clientele, stands at the head. The work of the Maxim & Gay Co. is to place the general public upon a level with the winning pluggers, and our success in this accomplishment has made us famous on two continents.

We do business only on the great racetracks of the U. S. We number among our clients some of the best known sportsmen, financiers and merchants in the country. Investment on the turf is now deemed as legitimate as any other high-class form of speculation. The present high standard to which racing has been brought, and the absolutely good faith in its conduct under the auspices of the Jockey Club in the East, and the Western Jockey Club in the West, has inspired millionaire capitalists and business men all over the country with as much confidence in racing as in the stock, grain and cotton markets, and this is one reason why transactions in the betting rings now rival in magnitude those of the stock, cotton and grain exchanges.

Another reason for the rapid growth of turf speculation in popular favor, is the rapidity with which all transactions are wound up. The speculator makes his investment at the race track in the afternoon, and receives a notification by mail, in a letter guaranteed to bear a postmark earlier than the race is run, or just what horses are to be backed by his account. By the next mail he is informed of the result of the day's operations, and he learns quickly just where he stands. At the end of each week he receives a complete statement of his account, with a money order for his profits, less 25 per cent., which he deducts at once.

This gives a wholesale tone to legitimate turf speculation which cannot be found in the more or less involved transactions of the big exchanges, and this is why turfmen live more comfortably and live longer than do men whose involved transactions are on their minds, day and night, for weeks, and sometimes months at a stretch.

Our Clients Won a Million Dollars.

As it is well known that our clients have collectively won as much as a million dollars at a single race meeting, it is sometimes asked: "Why do not Maxim & Gay simply sit down and back their own selections instead of running a considerable clerical force and spending large sums in advertising in newspapers throughout the country?"

The answer is simple enough, if one stops to consider the situation. Maxim & Gay, by dint of ability, energy, organization, capital and advertising, have secured an enormous clientele which means the command of immense capital. If we can pick winners for this immense number of investors, our profits are larger than if we played our own money only, for on a basis of 25 per cent of winnings, which we charge for information and commission, one man out of every four of our customers is practically betting for us. The proof that this plan works for the benefit of the public as well as that we win three weeks out of four and our books show that no customer who stuck to us for two months ever failed to get well ahead of the game, while not a few of those who use our winning system of race horses and who are cutting an important figure on the turf, began the game as mere novices, playing our selections through us.

The principle upon which we operate is such that we must of necessity do the best we can for you. Our income, as pointed out, is derived solely from a percentage of the winnings of our clients, and if we cannot make you win, our entire outcome is cut off. That we have been successful in making our clients win is amply proved by the fact that we have prospered for upward of three years, while imitators, pursuing more economical and less businesslike methods have gone under by the score. Noting the success that was being achieved by Maxim & Gay, scores of "get-rich-quick" operators tried to break into the field successfully occupied by the older and more responsible firm, but it did not take the press and public long to discriminate between the legitimate and the illegitimate, and as a result we have continued to flourish uninterrupted, while in the ranks of our rivals there have been scores of enterprises initiated, only to end in failure.

A Few of Hundreds of Recent Endorsements of the Press.

Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune, March 1, 1903.

Maxim & Gay, who have been so successful in selecting winners at the New Orleans races, are in a class by themselves and have no relation in their system of operation to the "get-rich-quick" schemes that have recently gone to pieces disastrously to those who patronized them. Maxim & Gay do not guarantee their clients profits nor against losses, but merely play the money of their subscribers and deduct a fixed percentage from winnings for the commissions. This point is made clear in all their announcements. What they guarantee to do is to confidentially handle all money forwarded them and place it on the races just as if it were their own. They have in their employ as "clockers" the most expert judges of track work in the country and there is not a horse at the New Orleans meeting that they have not a record of. The information collected in this way is used to the benefit of their subscribers, and its reliable character is attested by the numerous winners they have picked in the past two weeks.

Maxim & Gay are the pioneers in this line of investment or speculation; they have been established three years; they conduct their business on straightforward business lines; their methods have been thoroughly investigated and found entirely different from those pursued by the "get-rich-quick" schemes, so called, which were but recently closed by the authorities. The transactions of Maxim & Gay are legal in every sense, and they do exactly what they advertise to do, that is, play the money of their subscribers on the horses they judge will win, and they usually win. Prompt and proper accounting is made of the result, but they guarantee no fixed profits, though those who have continuously patronized them have not been losers.

St. Paul Dispatch, February 28, 1903.

An investigation of the practice of the Maxim & Gay Co. shows them to be conducting their business on straightforward business lines. They have been established nearly three years. They do not guarantee clients profits or against loss, but merely place subscribers' money on judgment of experts, charging a fee for information and deduct a fixed percentage from winnings for placing the commissions. They are the pioneers in this line of investments or speculations.

N. Y. Morning Telegraph, February 23, 1902.

Since the incorporation of the Maxim & Gay Co., the casual racegoer can possess himself of as much if not more knowledge of the comparative merits of the horses, and their chances of success, as the "regular," who burns the midnight oil studying from charts. He can secure through this company, which is incorporated under the laws of New York state, the expert knowledge and expert judgment of an experienced combination of horsemen whose duty it is to find out for him such things concerning the horses as he could not possibly find out for himself, unless he devoted his entire time and attention to the business. Even then, to do as well, he would have to possess a peculiar talent and be specially fitted by experience and natural ability.

Cincinnati Times-Star, March 3, 1903.

The Maxim & Gay Company, well-known purveyors of turf, information, should not be confounded with "get-rich-quick" turf investment or concerns of similar character. They have been established nearly three years. They place subscribers' money on judgment of their experts, and deduct a fixed percentage from winnings for placing the commissions. They are the Napoleons in this line of investment or speculation.

Memphis Evening Scimitar, March 2, 1903.

The advertisements that appear from time to time in the columns of the various newspapers with reference to the turf plan of Maxim & Gay Company tell a story entirely different from the exploits of the "defunct" "get-rich-quick" concerns.

The Maxim & Gay Company transact business thoroughly and solely on business principles.
